

LAW IN THE DIGITAL SOCIETY

UOS SCHOOL OF LAW: COME AND SPEND AN ERASMUS+ SUMMER TERM WITH US

Driven by data and new technologies, the European Digital Single Market is continuously being regulated, resulting in laws such as the the Data Act, the Digital Services Act, the Digital Markets Act or the AI Act. Simultaneously, time-tested concepts, such as contract, copyright and patent law must be modernized to keep up with current developments. The curriculum covers central aspects of the legal framework required for a well-functioning digital society. It combines a sound introduction and unique cross-disciplinary analysis of key issues concerning digital law.

Summer Term 2025:

April 1st 2025 – September 30th 2025

Lectures:

April 14th 2025 – July 19th 2025

Law in the Digital Society

- Introduction to German Law
- European and International Media Law
- Data Protection
- EU Platform Regulation
- Modern Contracts: License & Data Sharing Agreements
- Liability for Algorithms
- European Copyright Law
- European Patent Law

Additional law and political science offerings

- Legal Language courses on French, UK and US law (in their native language)
- Elective courses EU politics and policy offered by the department of social sciences upon consultation including the course EU Policy Making II.
- Mathematics for Cognitive Sciences & Law

Why study with us?

- Small size class sizes allowing to learn more effectively
- Joint courses with German fellow students
- A lively and welcoming research environment
- Learning material online
- A well-equipped Research Library
- The possibility to participate in Faculty-events and Conferences

All courses are taught in English by members of the law faculty. The program offers a broad range of subjects related to European and comparative law as well as an introduction to German law. You are welcome to either participate in the full program on European Legal Studies or swap courses depending on the requirements of your law school or tailor the classes to your particular interests.

For the current schedule as well as information on the lecturers see

Get inspired: Achieve a stronger academic foundation and broader experience for future careers in European Union Law – and a head start on current issues & debates for future research and Ph.D. projects.